First girders go into place for 'The Towers'

What promises to be Santa Clara Valley's most spectacular and dramatic building really "got off the ground" on Tuesday of this week as the photos above will testify.

Huge steel girders, rising to the height of the first floor of Campbell's first skyscraper, the 18-story office building, "The Towers", went into place giving some indication as to how mammoth the structure will be when completed.

Prior to the raising of the girders, weeks of preparation were needed to construct the "holes" into which the girders were lowered and bolted in concrete.

The 18-story building, the tallest between San Francisco and Los Angeles, is being constructed jointly by Fred Sahadi, local developer and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co.

It is located on the former 34-acre Brynteson Ranch at Campbell and Bascom avenues and will be adjacent to the 300,000 square foot shopping center, "The Pruneyard", that will front on Bascom.

School districts vote Tuesday

Incumbent board members face many challengers

Voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, April 15, to name trustees to the various school districts in the area.

Although no basic issue has erupted to enliven the races in the various districts, in almost every instance incumbent board members are facing opposition.

The three incumbents in the Campbell Union (elementary) District, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, John M. Merriell and George L. Talley, are opposed by Alan W. Alexander, Ralph J. Steinberg, Robert A. Stewart and Joan D. Franks.

The three incumbent board members for the Campbell Union High School District, Mrs. Dorothy Goble, Vernon R. Rutlen and Frank Bonanno, are opposed on the ballot by five candidates, Berkeley Miller, Albert J. Addy, Harold C. Gluth, E. (Charlie) Cole and Carl T. Merriman.

In the Moreland School District, the three incumbents, Donald D. Cooley, John A. Hibbert and Eugene Riordan, face eight other candidates who are seeking the board spots.

Challengers in Moreland are Paul M. Bradley, James W. Walton, Hermilo R. Gloria, Jacob Carlin, Joseph A. Mariani, John M. Attowe, Jr. Jeferson F. Beardsley and Mrs. Rita Rose.

In the West Valley Junior College District, made up of three high school districts, two incumbents in Area 1 (Los Gatos-Saratoga), Edward A. Panelli, and Mrs. Mildred Wharton are being challenged by Albert Kerst, William G. Kinder and Henry W. Safarik.

In Area 2, (Santa Clara) Jack Armstrong is not seeking reelection and there are six candidates seeking the office he is vacating.

These are Anthony J. Rizzo, Myron W. Husband, Isaac Konar, Foster S. Lopes, Alvin H. Murphy and Marcos Ortiz.

In the Cambrian School District, which also extends into the Campbell area to some extent, there are three incumbents seeking reelection. But in contrast to the other districts, there is only one challenger.

Jack M. Farnham, Mrs. Virginia Grewohl and John H. Shettanian are the incumbents with C.B. (Sonny) Towner, the lone challenger.

Building 'booms' with one permit

Building permits issued in the City of Campbell during the first two months of this year lagged far behind the same period last year.

But one permit issued in March, for the 18-story "The Towers" at Campbell and Bascom, took care of the "lag".....and then some.

Permits issued for the first quarter total $2,695,584.75, more than $1 million more than for the first three months in 1968, according to Wally Byron, city building official.

In March, one of the largest permits for a single building in the history of the community, was issued to Fred Sahadi and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., for the 18-story office building now under construction just off Campbell Ave. and Bascom, across from the Union Ave. intersection.

The permit was for $2,008,862 and only includes "The Towers". According to the developers, application will soon be made for a permit for "The Pruneyard", a 300,000 square foot shopping center that will be located adjacent to "The Towers" at Bascom and Campbell avenues.

In March of last year, the building permit total for the month came to $305,733 compared to $2,503,440.75 this March. The total for the first quarter last year was $1,481,907 compared to $2,695,584.75 this quarter.

Helping to bring up the building permit total for the month was the city's new fire station on Sunnyoaks which came to $107,183.

The building of single-family dwellings within the city limits was close to a stand still, however, Byron reports.

Only one permit in this category ($23,864 for C.W. Cruey at 691 Regas Drive) has been issued this year so far.

Last year during the same period there had been 17 permits issued for single-family dwellings for a total of $384,237.

The building of duplexes and multiples has also slowed down within the city limits so far this year, according to Byron.

During the first three months last year, the duplex-multiple total was $432,137 compared to $131,487 this year, a decrease of more than $300,000.

But in the commercial category (that's where "The Towers" is listed) the first quarter shows an increase over 1968 by more than $1 million.

During March, two permits for industrial buildings came to $86,418: Ed Williams at 80 Gilman, for $59,538 and Eldred Kunkel at 665 Mc Glincey Lane for $26,880. The other industrial permit for the year went to Earl Doise, at 203 Kennedy, for $56,826.

The total for the quarter was $143,244 as compared to last year's total for four permits in the same period for $327,769.

During March three permits for swimming pools were taken out for $10,500; also the total for the quarter. Last year for the same month there were only two swimming pool permits for $7,000 but there were six issued for the first quarter for a total of $19,800.

Demolition permits this year are ahead of last year, at least, in the amount ($101,921.75 compared to $91,575). But only two more permits (37) have been issued than last year in the three months.

Byron said that indications are that the building "boom" that started belatedly this year with the 18-story "Towers", will continue for some time, if the number of plans his office is checking out is any criteria.

He predicts that 1969 will be one of the biggest, if not the biggest, in this city's history.

RAIN DROPS

Rainfall in Campbell during the last week totaled 1.52 inches, bringing the total for the season to 24.53 inches.

At this time last year 14.36 inches had been recorded with normal being 13.73 inches.

SUPREME COURT BARRISTER---William S. Smeed, mayor of Campbell and a San Jose attorney, last week was admitted to practice before the bar of the U. S. Supreme Court on the motion of Congressman Paul McClosky, of San Mateo, a fellow attorney. Smeed, with the congressman, appeared in person before this country's highest court after first meeting all the conditions necessary before the court will consider the motion.

Appeals again feature next Council meeting

Two appeals from Planning Commission rulings are on the agenda of the City Council for next Monday, April 14.

One concerns a service station requested for E. Hamilton at Almarida (across from Breuner's) and the other a zone change that would allow a "convenience market" on Pollard and Burrows roads.

The appeal of the service station ruling is being made by Caltex Investment Co., represented by Dick Morton, prominent San Jose attorney and former Campbell mayor.

It will mark the second time the issue has been before the Council.

It was referred back to the Planning Commission at the first go-around when council members felt that a service station survey prepared by the firm was "new evidence".

A companion measure, which changes the property on which the station is planned to R-3-S and C-2-S approved by the commission, also goes to the Council on Monday.

At the Planning Commission Monday, the commissioners felt that the service station survey did not change the local picture and held firm to their original position of denial of the gas station.

The request for zone change from R-1 (single family residential) to PD (planned development) for property on the northwest corner of Pollard and Burrows Road has been submitted by J. F. Saia.

Saia has indicated through his attorney that he wants to construct a convenience market ("7-11") on the parcel. The request has stirred the neighborhood and at the previous hearings residents of the area turned out in force. Most of those speaking maintained that they were opposed to the market.

On Monday night also the

OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

A LETTER CAME THIS week addressed to the attention of the "financial desk" of this newspaper.

After studying for a while which one of the desks in the office was qualified, we decided to open it.

At this time of the year when taxes and money are uppermost in our mind (property tax deadline April 10 and income taxes on April 15), our desk probably is the closest to a "financial desk" there is about the joint.

The letter, incidentally, did not help our financial status. It merely informed us that a new vice-president of some famed financial institution had been appointed.

Next week is going to be one of those weeks that we would rather not see arrive.

It probably should be called "National Digging Week".

At least that's what we will be doing.

How about you?

A BEAUTIFUL PLAQUE now graces our office wall.

We were awarded it at the JayCees annual awards banquet in a surprise presentation (at least for us).

A number of people knew about the award beforehand (including our Dorothy and Fran Clever at the office. But

As you long-time editor not us).

As your long-time editor and publisher, we take pride in being pretty much aware of what is going on in the community. That's part of our job.

But we were really caught off guard in this case.

Looking back on it, we realize that more people than usual seemed to be concerned over whether we were going to attend the JayCees award banquet; the event when the Distinguished Service Award for the young man of the year is made.

Dale Scott, executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association, a member of the Campbell Planning Commission and an active worker in the civic improvement bond drive campaign, was the winner of the award for 1968. (Bob Dalzell won it the year before.)

It was a well-deserved honor for Dale.

We were pleased that the panel of judges chose him, for he already has made an outstanding record in his community and we know he will prove even more valuable in the future.

Why was our own award so much of a shock to us, we suppose, was that the affair honored young men. We had been out of the running in the age (21-35) category for some time.

So when an old fogie like us received top billing, it was a little much.

In fact we were in such a state of shock that, although we had our camera with us and shot Sharon Scott receiving the award for the absent Dale, we didn't bother to have some one shoot us getting our plaque from Jerry Gomes, the JayCee president.

Posterity being what it is, we called Jerry in on Monday and Fran shot the picture in the office that appeared on the front page in the last issue.

SOME OF YOU MIGHT have wondered how come that Jerry in the photo that was on the front page was wearing a sweater, a rather unusual garb for an annual banquet.

That's how come.

If anyone of you are really interested in what Jerry was wearing at the affair, in the same issue (back page) he was pictured dancing with his Rose that night.

The annual banquet was in charge of Nozer Haladwala, JayCee vice-president. We understand Nozer was also

Congress Recommends

Five panel discussion groups at the recent Third Annual Congress for Community Progress made specific recommendations that were subsequently adopted by the general assembly.

Each panel, community administration, community education, community economic development, community youth and community urban affairs, hammered out the recommendations in the morning session after stimulating discussions.

In last week's issue we presented the recommendations in full of community administration, community education and community economic development.

This week appear the recommendations of community youth and community urban affairs:

COMMUNITY YOUTH

1. Continue, expand, improve educational experiences, beginning at K-8 level to meet current and future needs of the student, both academic and social.

2. Continue and improve the articulation between (among) the school districts (elementary, high school, and college).

3. Being that young people today are capable of worthwhile contributions and being that this committee is interested in fostering communication between the generations, we recommend that young people be used to greater extent in decision making roles, especially in the area of governmental affairs.

Specifically, we recommend that, within the next ninety days, a Youth Council be appointed by The City Council, said Youth Council to be representative of the community's youth and has the same legal status as various, current City Commissions.

4. A panel reconvene as a Community Congress to look at and plan for youth in this community (suggested: a one day workshop such as today's).

5. That Service Clubs give leadership to youth by making a year long study and program. Reports of such study and program are to be brought to Club and to the Fourth Annual Congress.

6. Considering the importance of integration and improvement of race relations, and realizing that progress must come from the local community under the leadership of the Junior College, this panel recommends that West Valley College consider: 1) recruit minority students, instructors and counselors; 2) enlarge and improve the curriculum, including a credit--no credit grade policy; 3) support housing loans, scholarships and jobs to make the program possible; and 4) encourage a paid tutorial program to effect personal communication. Further, we recommend the community's support of this program both financially and in action.

7. This panel recommends that the community construct or find some building to be used as a Community Youth Center, for all youth of the community, to be run by them and supported by community funds.

8. In the interest of our young people, support the development of city parks and recreation programs.

COMMUNITY URBAN AFFAIRS

1. Recommend that West Valley College Housing Committee make their needs known via local press, local churches, West Valley Ombundsman and other sources to find rooms and apartments for students.

2. Ask the West Valley College Board of Trustees to announce permanent location in Campbell so that investment in Campbell housing for students as well as other private enterprises will be encouraged. Note: Ask the West Valley College Board of Trustees to tell the community the reasons for not making a decision at once.

3. Recommend that an employee of the Human Resources Agency of State Department of Employment be located in Campbell and that the Department of Employment, Department of Vocational Rehabilitation and other social agencies be invited to establish permanent headquarters in Campbell.

4. Recommend that realtors, the Chamber of Commerce, United Progresso Arriba, the City of Campbell and County Housing Authority be informed and in turn inform builders and developers of the possibility of building especially for lease to the Housing Authority for rent to low income persons.

5. Recommend that the Chamber of Commerce encourage private enterprise to invest in low cost housing, and that serious consideration be given to location of such development in the Gilman-Dillon area.

6. Recommend that the City Council establish a Housing Commission which would investigate housing needs and make recommendations. They would coordinate with the Planning Department to provide a resource agency for housing information.

7. Recommend that consideration be given to the establishment of a Volunteer Bureau to implement these recommendations and those of other panel recommendations and to provide a source for civic assistance and participation.

8. Recommended that a county wide bus system be established.

"SIDEWALK SUPERintendents" are going to have a field day as the 18-story "The Towers" rises into the air.

Although one might say that the "groundwork" has merely started on the structure which is being built as a joint venture by Fred Sahadi and Pittsburgh Steel off Campbell and Bascom, it already has begun to attract "superintendents".

We know because we belong to the "superintending" club.

We pass the job on the way to and from the office. We have been doing our share of "gawking" and there is nothing even above ground yet.

But those pits into which concrete has been poured and to which girders are apparently to be bolted have intrigued us.

But, man alive, when those floors start going up.....

At least, if you can't find us at the office, you will know where to look.

Oh, well, just how many 18-story buildings have YOU seen go up in Campbell in your day?

AS MOST OF YOU KNOW, we are convinced that it is necessary for the $625,000 park bond issue to pass on June 10, if the citizens of this community are going to preserve and reserve any of the fast-disappearing open space areas for park and recreational purposes.

As a fairly substantial property taxpayer in this community, we are not overly anxious to hike our tax bill in any shape or form.

But we sincerely believe that the $15 or so more that the park bonds will cost us individually annually will be worth every penny of it.

This community needs a park of the type that is planned on Rincon Ave. We also feel the $80,000 that will be earmarked for the development of eight neighborhood parks (at $10,000 each) at the schools is one of the most forward cooperative efforts ever undertaken in this community.

THE IDEA, AS YOU know, is to use the $10,000 for the improvement of the eight neighborhood parks as sort of "seed money" as Bob Stephens describes it.

Conceding that $10,000 won't go too far on its own, the dough, however, could provide the incentive for home and school PTA's and other organizations to cooperate with both $$$$ and labor and really get the job done.

We are, as we said, an enthusiastic supporter of the upcoming bond issue, for we sincerely believe that is the way for this community to go.

Man, if we didn't feel that-away, we would have a little trouble explaining things at home. Our Dorothy, you see, is publicity chairman of the bond drive. Incidentally, Dorothy's and Grace Hebard's pictures recently graced the front page of another newspaper. Grace, an alumna of The Press, heads another bond drive sub-committee.

As you can well imagine when the pictures of those two gals appeared on the front page of this other sheet, we heard about it in various ways. (Their mugs haven't appeared in The Press yet.)

The publicity chairman advised us this week that Postmaster Jim Hurley, the finance chairman for the bond drive, would gratefully accept any and all contributions from those who are interested in "saving our parks".

In our book, helping the bond drive would seem like a natural for home and school clubs, student bodies of the schools, and various PTA's to show their community interest in a material way.

In a nice way it would be putting our money where our mouth is.

YOU REMEMBER LAST week that we lightly slapped Mrs. Caryl Dale on the wrist for informing West Valley College board candidates that George BIERHUS has agreed to give candidates space for their statements in The Press.

In the salutation of a note from her this week, Mrs. Dale wrote "Dear Mr. Vierhus" 10 times. She swore that she would never misspell our name again.

She also called attention to a forum on April 10 at Saratoga High School for college board aspirants.

But speaking of misspelling names, we made an inexcusable error in the news story about the candidacy of Carl T. Merriman for the high school board. The name was spelled Merriam all through the story.

The name in the ad that Merriman also ran was correctly spelled.

We suppose there is a moral there some place, if you can find it.

WE HAVE NOT ENdorsed any of the candidates for the school posts in this year's election.

Only in rare instances has The Press ever made editorial recommendations for trustees.

So we didn't change our policy this year. There is no major issue involved in any of the districts and none of the trustees are being condemned, at least publicly.

But get out a vote next Tuesday, regardless.

Planners stand firm on denial of gas station on Hamilton Ave

Standing firm on their previous position, members of the Planning Commission on Monday night denied for the second time the request of Caltex Investment Builders for a service station on E. Hamilton at Almarida.

The City Council had sent the request back to the Planning Commission on the appeal because it was felt that a service station study of the area presented at the Council meeting was "new evidence".

The firm has again appealed the decision and will on the Council's agenda Monday night. Dick Morton, former Campbell mayor, represents Caltex. The Commission also reaffirmed the zone change request for the area (across from Breuner's) which allow multiples on most of it.

In addition to the gas station proposition, at Monday's meeting, the Commission denied three other requests and all by unanimous votes.

The first to go down the boards was the request of Fotomat Corporation for a free-standing drive-up film processing building to be located at 1723 S. Bascom (adjacent to Jack-in-the-Box).

Fred Chez, local developer, also lost out on his request for a zone change at 1871 and 1961 Pollard Road from R-1 (single family) to PD to allow a service station and a convenience shopping center on the property.

The other denial was to S. I. Ishigo, of Pan Pacific Properties. It was for a zone change that would extend the commercial zoning on Sunnyoaks from Winchester to allow another convenience market. A petition signed by 69 residents in the area favoring the zone change was presented. But the Commission felt that there was no need to extend the commercial zoning any further along Sunnyoaks.

The commission approved one zone change request from R-1 to R-2-S for property at 3161 W. Rincon, owned by Mary DeMartino, and for property at 706 Nido Drive from C-2-S to R-3-S of the Islandia Development Co.

Approval was granted Sutter Hill Development Co. for plans for a proposed shopping center at 850 W. Hamilton.

Commissioners looked unfavorably at the request of Ira Brotzman for a use permit to operate a carwash and gas station at Kennedy and Winchester but then deferred action for two weeks to allow the applicant to study the city ordinance which appears to be in conflict with the application.

Approval was also granted to Joe Yeargain for an extension of time before the sign at Taco Joe's at 1950 S. Bascom has to be removed. The sign is to be removed when the street is improved.

Three plans for commercial buildings (including an auto center) were approved by the Commission for Ira Kirkorian in the Kirkwood Plaza area.

Plans were also approved for a 32-unit apartment at 706 Nido submitted by Martin Garfinkle and for a 26-unit complex at 180 N. San Tomas Road submitted by Paul Kelker.

City Council is expected to give first reading to the ordinance that will officially establish the need for a redevelopment agency that would draft definite plans for upgrading the Gilman-Railway-Dillon area.

Scheduled also is the public hearing for the zone change for the triangular parcel off El Patio which will allow an apartment complex on the site. The Planning Commission has already approved the zone change.

A climax to a long-standing problem which in the past provoked considerable citizen reaction is the request for approval of the final map for the duplex development on Virginia at the proposed extension of Bucknam. The map calls for Bucknam to be cut through.

The original plan for the parcel, a town-house complex, provoked protests from residents in the area. Subsequently, the duplex plan was devised as a "compromise".

A letter from Russell Hammer, of 1297 S. Clover, a sophomore at Del Mar High, is also on the agenda. Young Hammer is requesting the Council to appoint young adults to advisory commissions of the city.

The Council on Monday is also expected to take action on the resignation of Kel Young from the Planning Commission. Young, serving as chairman, submitted his resignation last week.

Spring rubbish pick-up scheduled for April 25

The annual spring rubbish pickup has been scheduled for April 25, it was announced this week by the Campbell Fire Department. On this date residents of the city of Campbell, and a customer of the Green Valley Disposal Company, may place rubbish and any discarded material on the curb in front of their residences before 7 a.m. for free pick-up.

All debris should be placed in boxes or metal containers light enough for one man to carry. Trimmings must be bundled in four foot lengths, and no large items such as appliances or boxes of dirt and rocks will be picked up.

If your property has access to an alley way, and this is your regular pickup location, your rubbish may be placed there instead of on the front curbs.

The large item pickup held last year, cannot be conducted this year due to the lack of enough large trucks. Last year 252 tons of large items were cleared away and the Green Valley Disposal trucked away 198 tons of debris.

In connection with the annual spring cleanup a proclamation has been issued by William S. Smeed, Campbell mayor, proclaiming the month of May as Clean Up and Beautify month.

The Campbell Fire Department issues a call for all citizens to cooperate with the cleanup campaign which will not only result in a more beautiful town in which to live, but a safer one in removing potential fire hazards.

Voters urged to register for bond election

Members of the Campbell JayCettes will be conducting a voter registration drive on April 16, 17 and 18 in an effort to get all eligible voters registered for the June 10 bond election.

Voters must be registered by April 18, 1969, or they will not be able to vote in the park bond election, according to Mrs. Karen Haladwala, chairman of the project.

The JayCette women will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Friday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, 100 W. Rincon Ave., Campbell. Mrs. Haladwala stated that handicapped or housebound voters who were unable to come in and register, would be served by the women coming to the home to register them. The group will also assist in transporting those unable to get to the polls on election day. For "home registration" service, phone 356-7295 or Mrs. Bev. Blaine, 356-5883.

Deadline nears for taxpayers to get $70 refund

The time is getting short for homeowners to apply for both the $70 property tax refund authorized by Proposition 1-A and the 1969 Homeowners tax exemption. Thousands of apparently eligible property owners have not applied, according to County Assessor Dwight Mathiesen.

The deadline for both claims is 5 p.m., April 15. Persons wishing to apply for the refund and the exemption should come to the County Assessor's Office, Exemption Division, 200 W. Hedding St., San Jose, to be sure they meet the deadline. They should bring their Social Security numbers. Where property is in a joint ownership, such as a husband and wife, both numbers are needed. Also the applications can be processed faster if owners bring their 1968 tax bill, but this is not essential.

The Exemption Division, located in the basement of the Municipal Court Building, will be open all day on Good Friday and all day on Saturday, April 12, and Sunday, April 13.

Mathiesen estimates that 50,000 property owners have failed to apply.

Anyone who owned and lived in a home, a duplex, or a condominium apartment on March 1, 1968 is entitled to a $70 refund this year from the State of California. This was approved by the voters in November as Proposition 1-A.

Also anyone who owned and lived in a similar residence on March 1 of this year is entitled to a $750 exemption on the assessed valuation, or taxable value, of his property for next year's tax bill. As a result his tax bill will be smaller.

A separate form must be filed for each. A white form is used for the $70 refund and a yellow one for the 1969 exemption.

Double wedding ceremony held at St. Lucy's

MR. AND MRS. BEN RODRIGUEZ, JR.

St. Lucy's church was the scene recently for the double wedding of two sisters, Linda Vivian Alvarez and Stella C. Alvarez, the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alvarez of 3862 Via Salice.

Waiting at the altar for Linda was her bridegroom, John Hubert Rodrigues, while Ben Rodriguez, Jr. stood to claim Stella as his bride. Doing double duty were Joseph Alvarez as he escorted his daughters down the aisle, and the girls' brother, Richard Alvarez, who served as ring bearer for both bridal parties.

Father O'Keefe read both double ring ceremonies which were held in the afternoon.

For her wedding day Linda chose an Empire A-line gown of white satin and Alencon re-embroidered lace which trimmed the bodice and also outlined the satin chapel train. Her three-tiered illusion fingertip veil, caught with a matching Alencon lace spray headpiece was also trimmed in lace. She carried an oval French bouquet of white roses and baby's-breath.

Green was the color chosen by Linda for her attendants gowns. Dressed in identical gowns were Cecelia Alvarez as maid of honor and Carol Suerdieck, Joyce Gouker, Fran Miller and Vivian Serrano as bridesmaids.

Cecelia carried a white daisy bouquet with yellow daisy trim while the bridesmaids bouquets were yellow with white trim.

Linda was graduated from Campbell High School where she was president of the Campbell Debs and attended West Valley College before she was employed by Sears department store.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Snyder of Pomeroy Ave., San Jose. An Overfelt High School graduate, he attended San Jose City College, and is now employed at the Fremont General Motors plant.

Keith Cummings stood with John as his best man. Ushers were Paul Benevides, Ernie Carvello, Ron Lofano, Mike Marcilio and Walter Garcia.

For her son's wedding Mrs. Snyder chose a pale blue beaded organza sheath dress with matching accessories.

Stella was escorted down the aisle wearing an Empire line dress of lace and organza featuring a scoop neck edged with seed pearls and a chapel length self train of lace. Her organza and lace headpiece was gathered to a petal tiara of pearls and crystals holding her two-tiered silk illusion veil. She carried a gardenia and carnation spray bouquet.

Lovely powder blue crepe and navy blue velvet gowns were chosen by Stella for her attendants. Her best friend, Carol Boyd served as maid of honor, and Joyce Morgan, Connie Herrera and Darlene Knight preceded the bridal party as bridesmaids. Carol carried a blue carnation bouquet and the bridesmaids accented their gowns with bouquets of powder blue carnations.

A graduate of Campbell High School, Stella also served as vice-president and president of the Campbell Debs and is presently employed as a cashier.

Ben is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rodriguez, Sr. of Union City. He attended San Jose City College and Chabot College in Hayward and is now employed by Chrysler Corp.

Ben chose his cousin, David Berrios, to serve as his best man while the guests were ushered to their seats by David Jackson, Ernie Rodriguez, Bradley Nieves and Gab Ontiveres.

Mrs. Rodriguez complimented the bridal party with a royal blue brocade dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Alvarez, the mother of the brides, wore a pink silk dress with rhinestone trim and pink accessories. She accented her ensemble with a white orchid corsage.

Following the double ceremony the two bridal parties entertained over 700 guests at their double champagne reception held at the St. Arch Angel Michael Hall in Saratoga.

Both newly-wed couples cut four-tiered cakes which were decorated with their own color co-ordinates.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodriguez, Jr. are now making their home in Union City following their wedding trip to San Francisco while San Jose is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodrigues, who honeymooned in Carmel and Disneyland.

To Families in Vacation Homes

Nearly three million American families now have a second home that ranges from a summer cabin in the mountains to a fully equipped year-round house for weekends.

A second home can be wonderfully relaxing, but every prospective home buyer should heed this reminder: Make sure a new home has an ample supply of safe running water.

Surveys show that the average family moving to the country wants to take along as many city comforts as possible. This includes plenty of running water for cooking, bathing, dishwashing and laundering.

The solution may be a private water system, consisting of a well, an electric pump, controls for turning the pump on and off and a storage tank.

Installation should be made by a water system specialist.

Better Homes & Gardens

A gracious living-bedroom in surprisingly little space. In addition to the queen-size bed there is room for a small sofa and table for morning coffee or late-night snack. Built in bookcases provide room for extras, and the corner mirror adds to the size of the room.

The master bedroom, depending on size, can contain anything from a tiny work corner for office or sewing, to an extra living room complete with a full size couch. Again stackable wall units could be used to save space, and even the smallest master bedroom usually will have space for at least two comfortable chairs and perhaps a small table. Thus arranged the bed-living room can serve as a place for a quiet cup of coffee before starting the day's activities, a place to spread out sewing or other materials during the day, and a place where Father can get away from the family to do some left over office work.

As for the bed, of course every master bedroom should have a kingsize bed. And don't let the demands of space frighten you—with careful decorating almost every medium sized bedroom can hold a big bed—with room left over for living space.

Potted Plants Add Beauty, With Ease

The modern look of container gardens reflects the need for maintenance-free outdoor living. Potted flowers and greens of all sizes and shapes mean release from the drudgery of caring for extensive planted areas.

Container gardens are weedless and mobile. They require a minimum of care and can be imaginatively used to decorate any outdoor area.

Decks and patios used for relaxing or outdoor entertainment are naturals for potted plant displays. An expanse of wooden fence or garage wall benefits, too, from the addition of a clay pot garden.

Geraniums will thrive in sun-drenched areas. Potted mums, available all year round, also do well in the sun.

Two gridders from Campbell sign

Two Campbell youths who made names for themselves on the prep gridiron last fall, will enroll in Washington State University in Pullman, Wash. next fall, according to Coach Jim Sweeney of the Cougards.

Dain Hines, 6-2, 219-pound offensive guard on the Campbell High championship team last fall, and Dennie Mitchell, 6-3, 218-pound tackle who played on the Mitty High team, have officially signed their "letters of intent" to go to WSU as a result of the good recruiting efforts of the Washington State coaching staff.

The two Campbell gridders were among nine of the 45 outstanding athletes who have announced they are heading to the northwest from the Bay Area.

Others include; Doug Neale, a 218-pound lineman from Saratoga; Mark Hull, from Bellarmine; Chuck Wickstrom, from Mitty High; Todd Brentlinger, Los Altos; William Sanford, Los Altos; Ronald Voris, Mt. View, Jim Winters, of St. Francis of Mt. View.

Youth Employment office appeals for job openings

Another step in plans for opening the Campbell Youth Employment Service, which is more popularly known as YES will be taken this week as the final screening of applicants for the position of youth director of the office will take place.

Vying for the position, according to Jerry J. Arca, chairman of the YES committee, are three senior girls from the Campbell High School: Terry Hanson, Connie Walters and Tony Sylvia. The YES office will be located in the Campbell Chamber of Commerce office, and the new director will have full rein in decorating the office in any way she feels will appeal to the teen-age applicants applying for jobs under the program.

Letters have been sent out to all the businessmen in the area outlining the non-profit voluntary program, which is administered by a committee of local businessmen, educators and civic leaders. The program is geered to finding as many jobs as possible for youths, age 14 to 19, during the summer months.

A sign-up day for the teenagers wanting summer employment will be held shortly at the Campbell High School. After the Youth Employment Office is opened, they will also be able to register there.

Beginning in May, the Service will have on file the names of the students registered as wanting to work. Each student's skills and qualifications will have been determined by a preliminary interview. Hopefully the Youth Employment service will be able to place all students wanting work, and it is for this purpose that all the businesses in the area are being screened as to their ability to place one or more applicants during the year.

Questions concerning the program can be answered by calling 378-6252.

Last year the YES program placed 150 students. The local office is cooperating with the California Department of Employment.

Campbell people help move 'RR'

Campbell residents who have long recognized the enjoyment youngsters have derived from the Billy Jones Railroad for so many years helped out recently in the moving of the railroad.

Myron Alexander, Gerry Kennedy, J. Randall Jones and Reg Crawley, from Campbell, recently joined with volunteers in Los Gatos to remove the rails from the Daves Ave. and Winchester site of the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad to Oak Meadow and Vasona parks.

The Billy Jones railroad was located on Daves Ave. for 20 years and was mecca for the small fry in the area.

A non-profit organization, of which Myron Alexander of Campbell is one of the leaders, has been formed to "transplant" the RR from the Daves Ave. location to the park. The group plans to purchase the equipment from the heirs of the estate and begin the operation of the mini-train in July in the parks.

Contributions to the project are tax deductible and can be sent to the Billy Jones Wildcat Railroad, P. O. Box 949, Los Gatos, 95930.

WHO PAYS THE BIG PART

OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION?

Not the student—tuition covers only about a third of the educational cost. To develop a constant supply of leaders, the colleges depend on voluntary giving. Give to the college of your choice—college is America's best friend.

FOR A "PATRIOTS TREE"---At a recent City Council meeting, Grant Redfield, (right), master counselor of the DeMolays, presented Mayor Bill Smeed with a certificate signifying that the De Molays will donate a tree to be planted in the new civic center. The tree will be called "The Patriots Tree" in memory of all patriots of Campbell.

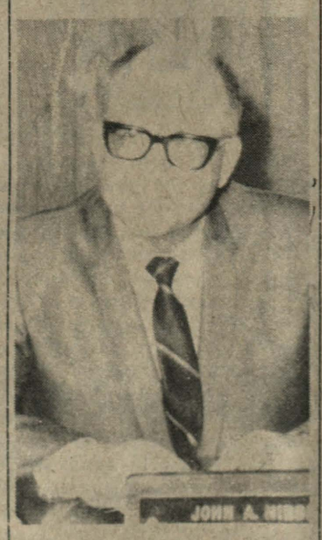
EQUAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES ARE THE FOUNDATION OF A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

Moreland School District board members seek reelection Tuesday

Eugene J. Riordan, John A. Hibbert and Donald D. Cooley, incumbent members of the Moreland School District Board of Trustees, seek reelection on Tuesday, April 15.



JOHN A. HIBBERT

Riordan, board president and member for 11 years and district resident since 1943, has long been active in parent and civic organizations and in school site location, purchase and construction of 11 elementary and junior high schools. He feels that his experience and dedication qualify him for continued service.

With a background in business administration, employer-employee relations, accounting, finance and law, Hibbert states that he has found them to be valuable in relating them to the responsibilities of a school trustee.

Cooley's experiences in real estate education and management and six years a district resident, he feels, have been helpful to him to better understand and cope with today's education problems. He pledges his service to continued quality education.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. on April 15 in Moreland's 14 elementary schools.

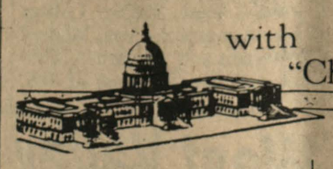
ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser



With the millions of beautiful words written in tribute to Dwight D. Eisenhower and the magnificent tributes paid his memory around the globe, it seems anticlimatic for me to attempt to embellish perfection.

But anyone who knew Mr. Eisenhower, and I imagine most who didn't, somehow felt a personal relationship with him–an association so personal that it must be expressed.

In January of 1953, I took the Oath of Office as a freshman representative in the 83rd Congress. Like most freshmen, I had stars in my eyes and a supreme confidence in my own ability to make this nation better and to make the ideals upon which I had campaigned a part of our national way of life.

Over the years I have seen many freshmen come to the House of Representatives as I did in 1953. They, too, had stars in their eyes but most have been forced to an acceptance of the cold, hard political reality that dreams and ideals materialize with agonizing slowness. But those of us who were freshmen in the 83rd Congress remained a different and more optimistic breed thanks to our fellow member of the 83rd Club who took us to his heart and remained close to us–our fellow freshman, President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

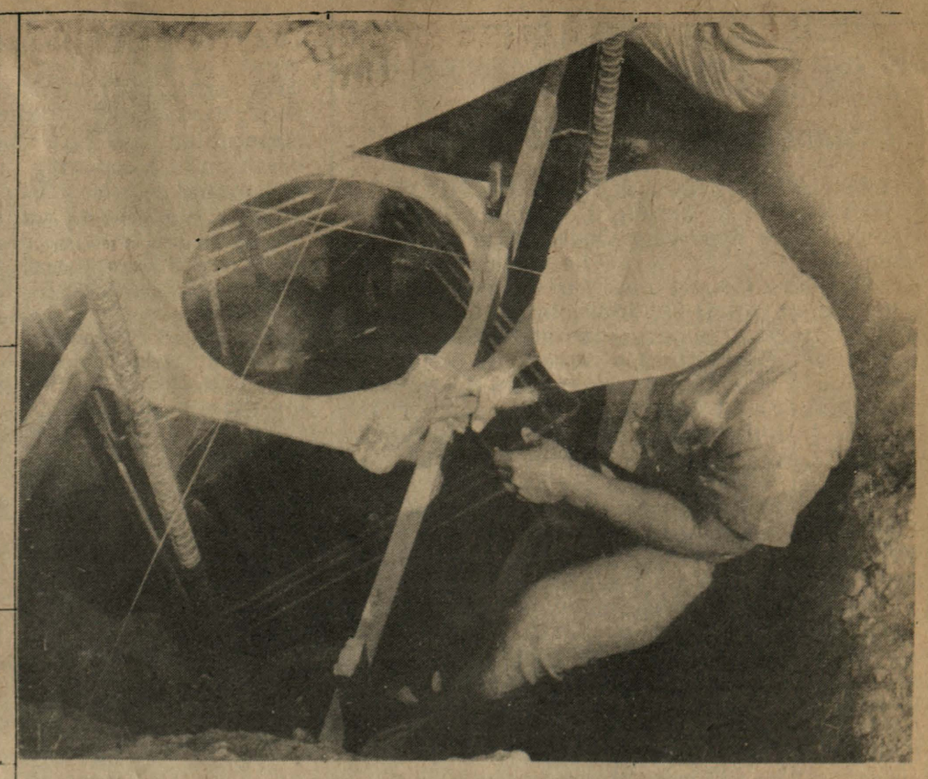
In our periodic meetings with "Ike", he inspired us to fight for our beliefs and to never settle for half a loaf of principles. I can remember his private warning that the course of moderation would be difficult as he said: "The middle of the road is the toughest road because you're in a cross fire from the extremes of the right and the left–but it is the right road."

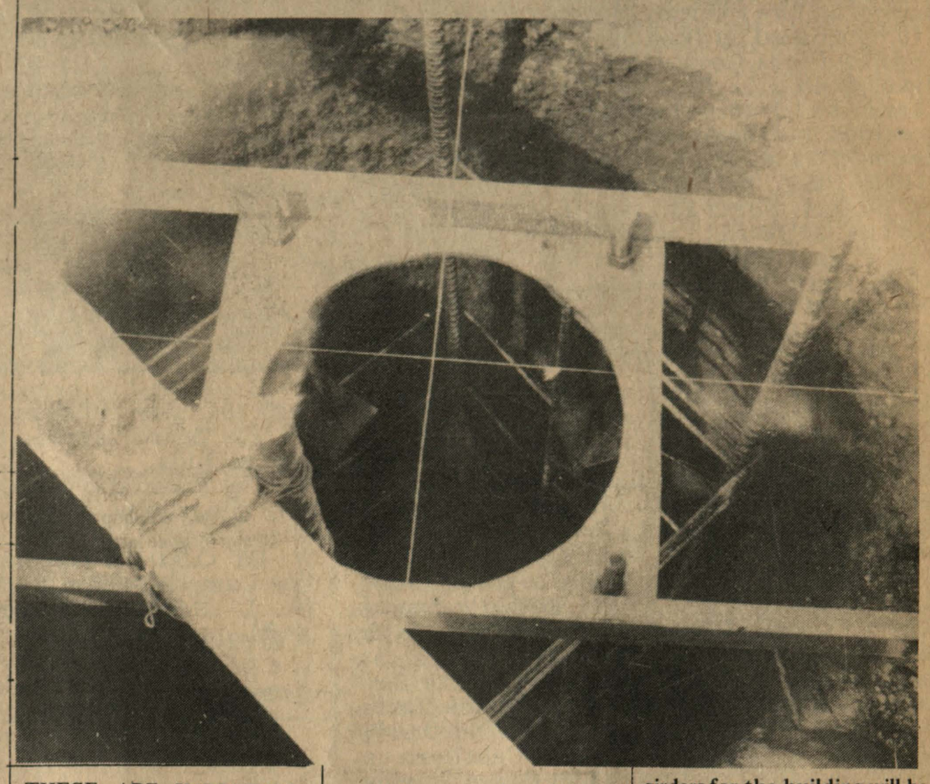
The basic human goodness of such a good man left its stamp on those of us who entered the political world with President Eisenhower. I can recall the manner in which he charmed my twelve year old daughter whom I took with me to a White House appointment–how he politely ignored me and saw to it that she posed in the middle of the picture, "so they can't cut you out". I vividly remember her succinct, pre-adolescent assessment of the great man she had just met when she said, "Boy, he'd be a swell grandpa!"

I recall being on the gift selection committee when the 83rd Club purchased his farewell gift and urging that since he was about to embark upon a duck hunting expedition, we should give him a suit of the new thermal "long johns" just for fun. It didn't materialize, but at the party I told the President of my suggestion and he liked the idea.

Then following his retirement I remember the precious picture made at an 83rd Club reunion when, as the last person in a gruelling, hour long photographic assembly line, I tickled the General's funny bone by telling him, "I've just decided–I'm not going to run for President".

I didn't always agree with Dwight D. Eisenhower, but like every other person who knew him, I trusted him and believed him to be honest and moral. His influence gave me a reason for public service which I didn't understand when I first campaigned. I shall always say that next to my Dad, he was the greatest man I ever knew!





THESE ARE IMPORTANT "HOLES"--The above photos show the first construction activities for the 18-story, "The Towers" off Campbell and Bascom avenues. The steel girders for the building will be placed in concrete in these holes. (See story and pictures on front page.)

As I View It

BY JOHN W. GILBAUGH

College administrators are surrendering to the demands of campus malcontents faster than the revolutionaries can devise and issue their ultimatums. One college president, in an effort to appease the campus ruffians rescinded virtually all of the rules and regulations that placed restrictions on students and faculty members. With no rules to break, there would be no violations. And, on a campus without laws, there would be no necessity to risk loss of popularity by having to impose disciplinary action against lawless faculty members.

Is this any way to run a college? A group of San Jose College faculty members who call themselves Professors For Responsible Conduct do not think so. The PRC organized during the past year and became active during the recent, illegal faculty strike. Members of the group concluded that remedy for the strife-torn San Jose State College campus, could not be secured through official college channels, which like faulty plumbing gets clogged.

So, when Assemblyman John Stull (R-Leucadia), chairman of the Sub-Committee on Educational Environment scheduled public hearings dealing with campus unrest, the Professors For Responsible Conduct responded. Speaking for PRC, one of its members, Erik Petersen, Professor of Music at San Jose State College appeared before the Assembly Sub-Committee last week and leveled these charges:

"That the San Jose State College President has a long record of yielding to pressure from militant elements and that his administration has encouraged abuses by 'rewarding unprofessional conduct'.

"For a long period of time, we have witnessed at San Jose State College a series of disruptions and abuses which have been accepted, without action, glossed over or swept under the rug by the administration."

The Professors For Responsible Conduct, through Professor Petersen, also claimed that:

— Girls who set fire to a dormitory building were not disciplined.

— President Clark promoted and granted sabbatical leave to a faculty member shortly after he was convicted on a morals charge.

— No action was taken by Clark after two professors were arrested by campus police for drinking alcoholic beverages with students.

— Clark took no action against faculty members who were living in their campus offices.

— He reduced the workload from 12 to nine units for 106 dissident professors while retaining the 12 unit workload for faculty members who remained on their jobs during disturbances.

It has been reported that Assemblyman John Stull, as Chairman of the Assembly Sub-Committee will ask Clark to appear before his group. And, that if Clark refuses he will subpoena him.

It would seem that good judgment would dictate the necessity for reasonable rules and regulations for college management. To surrender, and arbitrarily remove necessary controls, is to weaken the dikes that restrain the dissidents. And, it is inevitable that obvious weakness invites further deterioration and eventually a flood of chaos.

In preparation for the opening of trout season, Flycasters, Inc. is sponsoring a fly casting seminar, Sunday, April 13 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Bakesto Park Casting Pool, corner of Thirteenth and Taylor St., San Jose.

According to Monty Hart, one of the instructors, Flycasters, Inc. numbers over 100 members who meet the last Thursday of every month to "swap fish stories" and exchange information on the best fishing spots and methods of catching the elusive trout and other fish.

Activities on Sunday will include individual and group instruction in fly casting, knot tying, tackle selection and balancing, and tournament casting. A collection of all types of fly casting rods, reels and lines will be available for examination and use. The public is invited and there will be no charge.

Hart, who is a Campbell High School graduate now attending the University of Santa Clara, stated that interested persons may call 377-1207 for further information.

Put poisons out of reach in home, urges center

The Poison Control Center at Valley Medical Center has issued a reminder that parents should keep all drugs, poisons and household chemicals where children cannot reach them.

The center last year received 3,667 calls for aid or information involving people who had swallowed poisonous or harmful liquids. Over half of the victims were children under five years of age.

The County operated agency is the only authoritative source of poison information between the San Francisco-Oakland area and Santa Barbara.

It is staffed 24-hours of the day to provide accurate information and treatment for persons who have swallowed a harmful substance.

The center's files list thousands of liquids mostly commerical products, which may be found in homes. The files contain information as to whether the substance is harmful, how severe the danger is, and the recommended treatment.

The information in the files is available to parents, private doctors and emergency rooms throughout the area, according to Mrs. Lenora Schiro, R.N., emergency supervisor at Valley Medical Center.

Callers to the poison center are advised if home treatment is needed and advisable, if a doctor should be called or if the victim should be brought to Valley Medical Center or the nearest emergency station.

The Poison Control Center is listed by its name in all telephone books used in Santa Clara County. It is also listed under Santa Clara County and San Jose City offices.

Beyer returns following term in Peace Corp

Jim Beyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beyer, former Campbell residents now living in St. Paul, will be returning home this week from a two and a half year term of service with the Peace Corps.

Jim will be staying with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Friberg in Cambrian Park while making his future plans. A Campbell High School graduate, Jim was stationed in Colon, Panama. He and two other Peace Corps members were the only white people in the area, and were working with three villages of natives.

Spanish was the common language. According to Mrs. Friberg the natives of two of the villages picked out a tree and built him a boat right in the tree. After the tree was felled he was then able to use it in getting between the two villages which were 18 miles apart.

Jim is very enthused about the work being done by the Peace Corps and feels that the Corps may in some part offset the war being conducted in other parts of the world.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Al Salciccia

Ever wonder why golf courses have 18 holes instead of some other number? ...Actually, in the early days of golf's development in England, different courses did have different numbers of holes ...For example, when the first British Open was played, at the Prestwick Club in 1860, that course had only 12 holes... Some other courses then had 7 holes, some had 8, some had 14 ...But the most famous course, the St. Andrews Club of Scotland, just happened to have 18 holes - and in the years following 1860, other courses increased to 18 holes

Campbell High students win high honors in annual science fair

From more than 700 registrations – the largest in the history of the Santa Clara Valley Science Fair – Campbell High students took seven first place awards.

In addition, Shirley Wen won an Air Force Award for her zoology project on blood coagulation, and John Ewert, her teacher, won recognition as the teacher who contributed the most to the ninth annual Santa Clara Valley Science Fair.

Ewert's five other first place winners are:

Mike Sinkay who entered a zoology project on "X-Ray and Fruit Flies"; Barry Smith with a chemistry project titled, "Allotrophicism"; David Roach with an electronics/computer project called "Rethink Linear Amp."; Ann Sjoberg whose botany project studied "Plants and Detergents"; and Linda Tuttle who analyzed "Reserpine and Pigment" in a chemistry project.

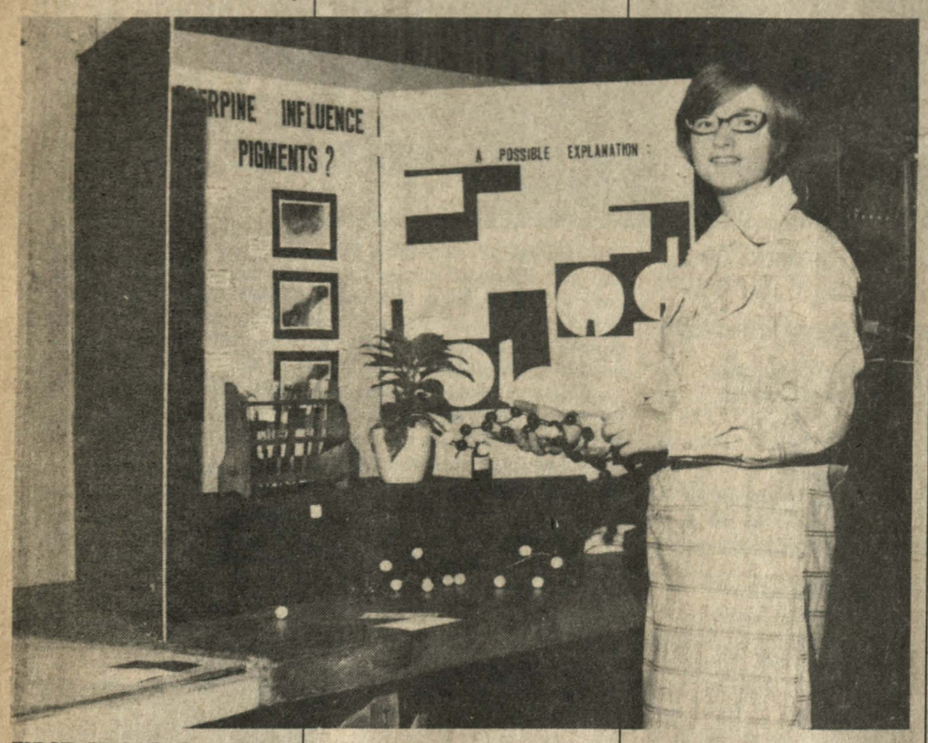
Mitchell Fair, entered by Primmer, developed an electronic/computer project called, "Electronic Simulation of Human Neurological Patterns".

"We are most pleased with the results of this year's Science Fair", President Everett Layne said. "We doubled the number of entries, and brought out the largest attendance in our history, with more than 4000 school children on scheduled visits to the Fair.

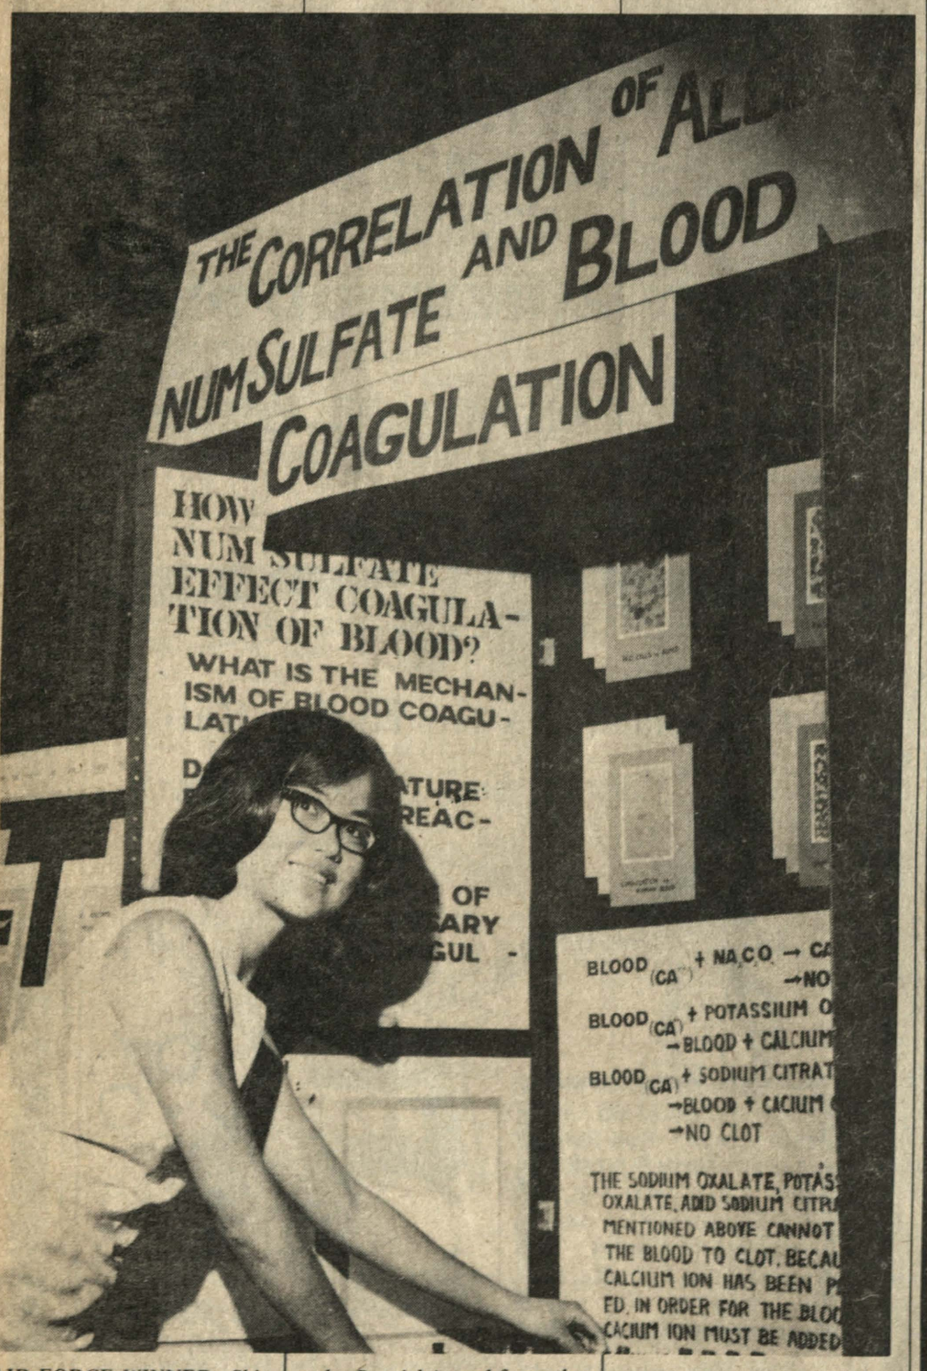
"Some of the exhibits were so outstanding that students were offered summer jobs by judges and top scientists who visited the Fair and were impressed with the students' work."

Grand prize winners were William Brooks of Sunnyvale and Darlene Lethin of San Jose, who will travel to the International Science Fair in Fort Worth, Texas, to compete against students from around the world. All expenses are paid by the Science Fair for the students and their teachers.

INTERESTED VIEWERS--Mitchell Fair of Campbell High is surrounded by observers at the Santa Clara Valley Science Fair who want to play the baseball game. He received a First Place Award for his complicated computer project. The Fair was held at the County Fairgrounds.



FIRST PLACE--Santa Clara Valley Science Fair judges approved of Linda Tuttle's chemistry research project on reserpine and pigment, and gave her a first prize for her efforts. She is a Campbell High student.



AIR FORCE WINNER--Shirley Wen of Campbell High, picked up a First Place Medal and a Special Award from the Air Force at the Santa Clara Valley Science Fair last weekend, for her zoology project on blood coagulation.
